Panamá en la Colección América Latina en la Historia Contemporánea

Este libro, dirigido por Alfredo Castillero Calvo, explica la rica y sorprendente historia de Panamá entre 1808 y 2013 desde la economía, la política, las relaciones internacionales, la sociedad, la vida cotidiana, la población y la cultura. Revela el difícil proceso que atravesó la sociedad para construir la nación: empezó a definir sus perfiles entre 1808 y 1821, se acentuaron estos a lo largo del siglo XIX en distintos intentos autonomistas o separatistas de Colombia y culminaron con la independencia de 1903. Analiza también el peso de la condición geográfica del país, y el forcejeo que a lo largo del siglo XX libró con la mayor potencia del mundo hasta liberarse de su dependencia, conquistar el canal y ponerlo al servicio de Panamá.

La colección América Latina en la Historia Contemporánea es uno de los proyectos editoriales más importantes de las últimas décadas y una aportación original y novedosa a la historiografía sobre América Latina en la que han participado más de 400 historiadores de diversos países. Presenta una visión plural y accesible de la historia contemporánea de las naciones latinoamericanas —incluyendo aquellas otras, europeas o americanas, que más han aportado a su materialización— y revela las claves políticas, sociales, económicas y culturales que han determinado su trayectoria y el lugar en el mundo que hoy ocupan.
